5. Duties of labour contractor

(1) A labour contractor shall supply migrant workers only –

- (a) to small planters or small breeders; and
- (b) in respect of job categories specified in the applicable Remuneration Regulations.

(2) A labour contractor shall enter into a written agreement with each individual migrant worker and the agreement shall, pursuant to section 29B(4)(a) of the Act, include –

- (a) the qualifications and skills of the migrant worker;

- (b) the job description of the tasks or occupation to be performed by the migrant worker;
- (c) the rate of remuneration applicable to the job category in respect of which the worker is offered employment and other terms and conditions of his employment;
- (d) a clause prohibiting the migrant worker to take up employment outside the agricultural sector; and
- (e) subject to paragraphs (3) and (4), the corresponding monthly deduction to be made from his remuneration, where the migrant worker opts to be provided food.

(3) The labour contractor shall provide the migrant worker the option to arrange for his own food or for the labour contractor to provide him food.

(4) Where the migrant worker opts to be provided food by the labour contractor, the amount which may be deducted from the worker's remuneration, equivalent to the value of food provided, inclusive of any deduction for housing allowance, shall not in the aggregate exceed 3,000 rupees monthly.

(5) No labour contractor shall supply to a hirer employer any migrant worker to perform tasks which –

- (a) fall outside the scope of the job description specified in the written agreement; or
- (b) require qualifications or skills other than those specified in the written agreement.

(6) No labour contractor or hirer employer shall charge the migrant worker any fee in relation to his recruitment.

(7) The labour contractor shall provide the migrant worker a decent lodging accommodation in respect of which there is a valid permit issued by the competent authorities.

(8) Every labour contractor shall ensure that a migrant worker who is exposed, or liable to be exposed, to a substance hazardous to health is placed under suitable health surveillance, including medical surveillance where –

- (a) the exposure to that substance is such that an identifiable occupational disease, as mentioned in the Fourteenth Schedule of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, or an adverse effect may be related to the exposure;
- (b) there is reasonable cause to believe that the disease or adverse effect may occur under his prevailing working conditions; or
- (c) a medical practitioner has advised such surveillance.

(9) (a) Every labour contractor shall keep record of substances hazardous to health to which migrant workers are exposed while working for a hirer employer, in such form as the supervising officer responsible for the subject of occupational safety and health, may determine.

(b) In these regulations –

“substance hazardous to health” has the same meaning as in the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

(10) The labour contractor shall, on a quarterly basis submit to the Ministry and the MCIA a list containing the names of the hirer employers to whom migrant workers are supplied and such other information as may be required.

(11) The labour contractor shall ensure that the migrant workers are provided appropriate training on local agricultural practices relevant to the job or occupation listed in their agreement.

6. Remuneration and terms and conditions of employment

(1) The remuneration relating to the job category or occupation of any migrant worker and his terms and conditions of employment shall, in addition to the Act, be regulated by the Remuneration Regulations applicable to the sector where the migrant worker is employed.

(2) The labour contractor shall ensure that the remuneration of the migrant worker employed by him is not less favourable than the remuneration of a worker employed by the hirer employer and performing work of equal value.

7. Duties of the hirer employer

(1) Subject to section 29C of the Act, the hirer employer shall –

- (a) supervise and direct the work performed by the migrant worker;
- (b) ensure that the migrant worker performs work only in accordance with the job description communicated to the migrant worker in writing under section 29B(4) of the Act, and shall not require or permit the migrant worker to perform any work outside the job description and job category set out in his written agreement with the labour contractor;
- (c) comply with the conditions of employment, including the number of working hours and rest period of the migrant worker;

- (d) ensure that the migrant worker is not exposed to any risk to his safety and health and that the migrant worker is provided with information, instruction, training and supervision in relation to his work;
- (e) carry out a suitable and sufficient assessment of the risk to the safety and health to which the migrant workers might be exposed whilst at work;
- (f) provide the migrant worker with the tools of work and any protective equipment or clothing which may be required for the performance of work.

(2) A hirer employer shall not accept the supply of a migrant worker unless the migrant worker holds a valid work permit.

(3) Every hirer employer shall, where any migrant worker, as a result of an accident arising out of or in connection with his work, dies or suffers any of the injuries or conditions specified in the Eleventh Schedule of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, or where there happens a dangerous occurrence specified in the Twelfth Schedule of the Occupational Safety and Health Act –

- (a) forthwith notify the Director, National Occupational Safety and Health Department by the quickest practicable means; and
- (b) within 7 days send a report thereof to the Director, Occupational Safety and Health in the form set out in the Thirteenth Schedule of the Occupational Safety and Health Act.

(4) Every hirer employer shall submit to the labour contractor a list of substances hazardous to health to which the migrant worker has been exposed while working for him.

8. Duties of migrant worker

In addition to provisions of the Occupational Safety and Health Act, every migrant worker shall, while at work –

- (a) take reasonable care for the safety and health of himself and of other persons who may be affected by his acts or omissions at work;
- (b) wear or use any protective equipment or clothing provided by the employer, at all times, when there is a risk of bodily injury against which the equipment or clothing affords protection.

9. Offences

Any person who contravenes these regulations shall commit an offence and shall on conviction be liable to –

- (a) where the contravention relates to an offence under the Workers' Rights Act 2019; or
- (b) where the contravention relates to an offence under the Occupational Safety and Health Act, such penalty as provided in the relevant Act.

10. Commencement

These regulations shall come into operation on 18 July 2026.
